Sun Rivers Hits the International Awards Stage

The International Awards for Liveable Communities 2011 – LivCom

Sun Rivers Golf Resort Community is one of 50 international finalists selected from 250 international entries for the United Nations endorsed LivCom Awards to be held in Songpa, Seoul, South Korea. “It is an exhilarating experience to be selected to present our development on the International platform,” says Leslie Brochu, Vice-President for Sun Rivers. “What a fantastic opportunity to present Sun Rivers, TIB, Kamloops, BC and Canada on the world stage”.

Entries come in from all over the world with communities battling for the recognition of being one of the best places to live on the planet. The LivCom Awards are the world’s only competition for local communities that focuses on environmental management and the creation of liveable communities. Communities are judged as to how they are performing within the cultural, political, economic, geographic and climatic environment in which they are situated. The objective of the LivCom Awards is to encourage best practices, innovation and leadership in providing a vibrant, environmentally sustainable community that improves quality of life.

Sun Rivers will be presenting the community on the international stage in Korea October 27, 2011 in two categories: The Whole City Award and Project Award for Developing Stewardship.

“Involvement in The LivCom Awards will increase the international profile for Sun Rivers Resort Community and provide an opportunity for us to become aware of other International Best Practices in the management of our local environment as we continually strive for improvement,” says Sun Rivers CEO, Rick Siemens.

During the finals in October, Sun Rivers will be able to observe presentations that contain examples of International Best Practices of other communities with similar constraints and opportunities and, in turn, influence accepted practices in sustainable development.
